

Why we cost what we cost.

An honest accounting of what's in each Evident tier, what we're not, and how every published competitor charges for the same scope.

What Evident is — and what it is not

Evident is software. We're a claims-preparation platform that turns the evidence you upload into structured, scored, provider-ready documents. We score every nexus letter against 12 quality gates and cite federated medical literature + BVA precedent inline. Your provider signs. You file.

Evident is NOT a VA-accredited representative. We do not file claims on your behalf and we cannot legally charge you for filing. Federal law reserves that authority for accredited VSOs and attorneys. Our pricing is a flat fee for software-generated drafts — not contingency on your award.

"That distinction matters: every claims-prep firm charging a multiple of your monthly increase is operating in a gray zone. We chose the narrow, defensible posture on purpose."

What's in each tier

Every tier is a flat published price. There are no hidden upsells and no contingency fees. The Comprehensive Portfolio is the maximum — past 4 documents, the Portfolio is always cheaper than buying à la carte.

Plan	Price	What's included
Essential Review	$199	Strategy / analysis only
Claims-Ready Package	$449	1 Nexus + 1 DBQ
Comprehensive Portfolio	$799	5 Nexus + 5 DBQ
Nexus Letter Draft	$199	1 Nexus + 0 DBQ
DBQ Clinical Summary	$249	0 Nexus + 1 DBQ
Provider Doc Bundle (Nexus + DBQ)	$399	1 Nexus + 1 DBQ
3-Doc Bundle	$549	3 Nexus + 3 DBQ
C&P; Exam Prep	$49	Strategy / analysis only
TDIU Readiness Report	$399	Strategy / analysis only
Aid & Attendance Readiness Report	$599	Strategy / analysis only

The Readiness Gate — what we won't sell you

Every Nexus and DBQ checkout runs a pre-flight evidence check against the requirements for that condition. If your evidence isn't ready — for example, you're requesting a Migraine DBQ but the file has no documented prostrating-attack frequency — checkout is blocked. We don't take your money for documents that won't help.

Why this exists: the single biggest complaint veterans have about this industry is being sold provider documents whose underlying evidence couldn't possibly support them. We built the Readiness Gate so that doesn't happen here.

THE COMPARISON

What this costs elsewhere.

Every figure below is sourced verbatim from the competitor's own published website as of 2026-06-27. We do not estimate competitor prices — we cite them. Source URLs are listed at the end of this document for verification.

Vendor	Service	Their published price	Same scope at Evident
Trajector Medical retrieved 2026-06-27 ■ not VA-accredited	Claims development (medical evidence consulting)	5× monthly VA benefit increase On a $1,000/mo benefit increase: 5 × $1,000 = $5,000 total fee Range: $4,500 – $20,000+ (per multiple veteran complaints + federal class-action lawsuit)	$799 flat, published
VA Claims Insider Elite retrieved 2026-06-27 ■ not VA-accredited	Membership + claims coaching	6× monthly VA benefit increase On a $1,000/mo benefit increase: 6 × $1,000 = $6,000 total fee (10% discount for lump-sum payment = $5,400) Range: $0 upfront; total varies by claim outcome	$799 flat, published
Claim Climbers retrieved 2026-06-27 ■ not VA-accredited	Per-document Nexus letter (DBQs not offered)	$600 – $795 per Nexus letter A single Nexus letter starts at $650 depending on condition. Bulk discounts available. Range: $600 – $795 per document	$199 flat, published

Sourcing notes

Trajector Medical. Trajector Medical is not a VA-accredited representative. Federal law prohibits accredited representatives from charging veterans for filing initial claims; Trajector classifies its fees as 'medical evidence consulting' to operate outside that restriction.

VA Claims Insider Elite. VA Claims Insider operates a 'no win, no fee' model — $0 due if the claim does not result in a rating increase. Quoted total is post-grant fee only.

Claim Climbers. Claim Climbers publishes flat per-document pricing. As of the audit date, they do not offer DBQ Clinical Summaries — only Nexus letters and a $195 medical record review.

Contingency fees explained: Trajector and VA Claims Insider both charge a multiple of the veteran's monthly benefit increase. On a $1,000/mo rating bump, Trajector's 5× formula is $5,000 and VA Claims Insider's 6× formula is $6,000. On a $3,000/mo bump (common for 100% ratings), those figures become $15,000 and $18,000 respectively. Evident's Comprehensive Portfolio is $799 regardless of outcome.

VERIFY EVERY FIGURE

Source URLs.

Click any URL below to verify the figure on the vendor's own published page. If a number has changed since our audit date, we've broken our own rule — please email support@precipice-health.com with the discrepancy and we'll re-verify within 48 hours and update this document.

Trajector Medical

Primary source: <https://www.trajectordisability.com/trajector-disability-our-fee/>

Secondary: <https://www.cbsnews.com/news/veterans-disability-claims-companies-charge-fees/>

Secondary: <https://www.military.com/daily-news/2026/04/14/disabled-veterans-charged-20k-file-va-benefits-claims-lawsuit.html>

VA Claims Insider Elite

Primary source: <https://vaclaimsinsider.com/what-is-the-va-claims-insider-elite-membership/>

Secondary: <https://allveteran.com/va-claims-insider/>

Claim Climbers

Primary source: <https://claimclimbers.com/va-nexus-letter/>

Secondary: <https://claimclimbers.com/services-and-pricing/>

Document audit date: 2026-06-27. Generated: 2026-10-08. Re-verification is performed before any pricing-page update. Evident's own pricing is the source of truth at <https://evident.precipice-health.com/pricing>.